Dear Grow with Google / Career Certificates Team,

I am writing to conclude the inquiry documented in the attached archive, containing a reference of the correspondence in question. This includes the Addendum—Findings submitted on March 19, relevant to the Google Cybersecurity Certificate.

All standard support channels have been exhausted.

I am mindful of our prior exchanges and do not wish to expand the scope.

The situation appears to reduce to a single unresolved condition as it relates to my original case-specific feedback.

Re: [Google Skills Support] Re: [NA]Re: [Google Skills Support] <https://qwiklab.zendesk.com/hc/en-us/requests/4835894?bra...>

1. The Google Cybersecurity Certificate is intended to function as a meaningful indicator of readiness for the types of roles I applied to (the Cyber Defense Associate Validation Engineer role in particular), or
2. The Google Cybersecurity Certificate is not intended to be evaluated as such within Google's own hiring systems.

Both interpretations cannot simultaneously hold true for the same candidate profile and role alignment.

I am not requesting broader policy explanations or systemic change. I am simply asking for a one-time, case-specific confirmation:

If (1) is true, then the outcome is consistent, and I will accept that understanding.

If (2) is true, that understanding clarifies the program's design intent.

A confirmation of which interpretation applies will conclusively provide the clarity that all prior exchanges have sought.
